Summary

I graduated from 9 Eylul University in the field of economics in 2022. I got an offer from the company I started as an intern in the last years of my school and I had the opportunity to experience the professional business life. I am currently learning HTML, CSS, Bootstrap, JavaScript, React and other technologies full time. You can find my projects and their details on my website. In short, I can write mobile-friendly, responsive, visually strong websites. I have also coded projects that improve my JavaScript skills such as Music player, Twitter clone, Car game, API and I still continue to develop them. My vision is to constantly improve myself in these technologies, which I have been passionately attached to since the first day, to make a difference with the works I have created and to be a sought-after software developer in the industry.
